Features to make contracts simple

Central contract repository

Store all contracts and related documents in one place. There's no limit on the number of documents you can store and you'll have access to the history associated with each document — even deleted ones.

Search and filter

Powerful search and filter tools make it easy to find the important details in any contract or related document. Refine searches by multiple criteria including date, type, department, and owner.

Contract messaging forum

Each contract record includes a messaging forum where stakeholders can track and save contract-related notes and comments. This enables easier collaboration and ensures there is a record of all communications.

Customizable contracts and workflows

Customize your contract types to capture and store the specific information needed for each contract scenario. Create tailored workflows for each contract type and ensure your contract processes are traceable, repeatable, and compliant.

Link contracts with marketplace suppliers

Automatically track spend against supplier contracts. You can also link contracts with RFX sourcing events and create contract associations between other contracts for a holistic view of supplier agreements and associated documents.

Alerts and notifications

Customizable alerts mean you'll never miss a contract milestone, workflow status update, or face the risk of being out of contract. This streamlines contract renewals by allowing for automated contract renewal notifications paired with associated workflows.
